ACCREDITATION HANDBOOK—CHAPTER XII: INFORMING THE PUBLIC

Candidacy Decisions Published – March 10, 2026

All Award/Continue Accreditation and Probation Decisions Published – March 10, 2026

Substantive Change Approval Published – n/a

The CAA’s decisions of the accreditation status of graduate education programs in audiology and speech-language pathology are based on compliance with current standards—addressing administrative structure and governance, faculty, academic and clinical curriculum, students, assessment, and program resources. The CAA’s accreditation is sought voluntarily by education programs that offer clinical doctoral degrees in audiology or master’s degrees in speech-language pathology designed for graduates entering the professions. The CAA applies accreditation status classifications to each program that reflect CAA’s evaluation of the extent to which an education program complies with the Standards for Accreditation.

The CAA provides public notice of final accreditation decisions in accordance with its Policy on Public Notice of Accreditation Actions.

Summary of Accreditation Actions

The following actions were taken at the February 11-13, 2026 CAA meeting. The complete list of CAA-Accredited Graduate Education Programs [PDF] is updated regularly to reflect recent actions and accreditation statuses. For information about a specific education program, contact the director of the audiology or speech-language pathology program at the institution listed.

Awarded Candidacy

Although compliance with all standards is not required at the time of award of candidacy, CAA’s decision to award candidacy status is based on the program’s and institution’s demonstrated commitment and ability to implement the program fully and to comply with all Standards for Accreditation. Candidacy status may be held for no longer than 5 years. Programs are required to file annual progress reports to document continuing compliance with and development towards the accreditation standards throughout the candidacy cycle.

Awarded/Continued Accreditation – With Monitoring

A program that is accredited with monitoring is judged to have standards-related deficiencies identified in the review that result in a noncompliance citation. Those deficiencies cited may not affect the program's capability to provide acceptable educational experiences for students and must be corrected within one year. If unresolved within one year, the CAA must give a second noncompliance citation, which will result in a probation decision.

Approved Substantive Change

The CAA evaluates whether a proposed substantive change affects the accredited or candidate program’s ability to maintain compliance with the Standards for Accreditation, and will take action accordingly. Programs are required to include information about all approved modalities in annual reports to document continuing compliance with the accreditation standards throughout the accreditation cycle.

N/A

Removed Probation/Continued Accreditation

When a program’s probation status is removed, the program demonstrated that it was able to rectify the deficiencies noted and achieve compliance with the Standards for Accreditation.

Placed on Probation

A program placed on probation is judged to be not in compliance with all accreditation standards, as indicated by clear evidence of circumstances that jeopardize the capability of the program to provide acceptable educational experiences for the students. A program also may be placed on probation because the program has not corrected deficiencies noted earlier by the CAA. A program placed on probation is considered accredited. A program may be placed on probation as a result of CAA's review of an annual report or application for continued accreditation; if the latter, a new accreditation cycle is initiated based on the end date of the previous accreditation cycle. A program is placed on probation for a period of one year, at which time the program must file a probation report. The CAA will maintain the Accreditation Action Report in the public notice for the duration of the probationary period, consistent with the Public Notice of Accreditation Actions policy (Accreditation Handbook—Chapter XII: Informing the Public). The probation date is included in the program listing.

Withdraw/Deny Accreditation Status (Pending Action)

The CAA withholds or withdraws an accreditation status (candidacy or accredited) from a program when it judges that the program is not in compliance with all Standards for Accreditation. A program whose accreditation is withheld or withdrawn has the opportunity to request a further consideration of the decision by the CAA and subsequently to appeal the decision. The CAA took an initial adverse action against the following programs, which is subject to further consideration and appeal.
